On 16th July 1969, at 9.30 in the morning, Apollo 11 lifted off from the Kennedy Space Centre in Florida. There were three astronauts –Neil Armstrong, Buss Aldrin, and Michael Collins. The enormous rocket took three days to complete the 250.000 miles to the moon, travelling at six miles per second (21.600 miles an hour) then it circled the moon 30 times, giving time to prepare for the landing.
