

❖ Task One:

For this assignment, reflect on the essential elements that contribute to building strong and lasting friendships. Write a paragraph discussing strategies you believe are effective in creating meaningful connections with others. Consider aspects such as communication, shared activities, and empathy.

Creating Friendship

Friendship is a vital aspect in humans' social life. Creating and maintaining this social criterion involves three main factors including participating in social and effective communications, practicing mutual activities, and showing empathy moments. First, actively engaging in open and honest conversations builds trust and understanding, laying the foundation for strong social bonds. Regular, meaningful communication allows individuals to express themselves, share experiences, and foster a sense of connections. Second, shared activities create common ground and strengthen the fabric of social relationships. To explain, engaging in hobbies like going to the gym, joining reading clubs, and attending parties provides opportunities for individuals to bond and solidify connections. Last, empathy forms the emotional glue that binds people together. Understanding and acknowledging the feelings and experiences of others in both sad and happy moments contribute to a supportive and compassionate social environment. In summary, effective communications, shared activities, and empathy moments serve as foundational strategies in the creation and maintenance of genuine and enduring friendships.

❖ Task Two:

In this assignment, we invite you to explore and articulate your insights on the key criteria that contribute to effective English language learning: Pronunciation, Vocabulary, and Grammar. Consider the significance of each element in mastering the language and share your perspectives on how these criteria influence language proficiency. Use the following vocabulary in the table below:

✓ Vocabulary Portfolio

Nouns	Verbs	Adjectives
Process	Include	Basic
Pursuit	Incorporate	Effective
Acquisition	Contain	Primary
Progress	Broaden	Crucial
Combination	Improve /enhance	Pivotal
Conversation	Construct	Ongoing
Diversity	Produce	Overall
Context	Discuss	Systematic
Realm / field	Serve	Interwoven
Concept	Consider	Meaningful
Factor	Provide	Purposeful
Issue	Pave the way /facilitate	Clear
Aspect	Allow	Accurate
Criterion	Ensure	Rich
Level	Convey	Various
Proficiency	Empower	Inevitable

Competence Capacity Practice	Foster Strengthen Intensify	Valuable Endless Complex /multifaceted
------------------------------------	-----------------------------------	--

Learning English

Learning English is considered nowadays as an inevitable issue due to the world's globalization. The process of acquiring this international language requires a combination of three primary and interwoven criteria. To begin with, pronunciation serves as the crucial engine that allows individuals speak the language. That is, learning how words and sounds are accurately pronounced helps speakers produce meaningful and purposeful sentences. Next, having rich and various vocabulary items paves the way to this language user to hold conversations in different topics. For example, the diversity in vocabulary knowledge can assist language users discuss issues related to different realms such as politics and economics. Grammar is another pivotal aspect that plays an effective role in the process of learning English. To explain, if participants have the proficiency to differentiate between nouns, verbs, and adjectives, then they can produce sentences with different grammatical structures. All in all, learning English is a multifaceted issue that individuals need to enhance through developing three major features: phonetics, semantics, and syntax.