Fourth Session (14/03/2022) (الحصة الرابعة)

Objectives

1. To revise some lessons of the previous semester S 5
2. To prepare students to read for an academic goal
3. To adapt students to dissertation analysis
4. To help students collect data ,which can be a literature review, about various topics for their Master dissertations
5. To motivate students for investing and working with some useful references either in the bibliography or sitography
6. To encourage the group work for communicating and collective decision making
7. To give students an idea that what they study in the sixth semester S6 is complementary with that of S 5
8. To train students to present their group work being ready for discussion and inter-correction with their classmates

N.B.:

1. This is a group work (for Gr 1+2+5) which can be done by students from the same group or with members from the two other groups .But with no more than 5 members for each team.

2. The English dissertations are available at the university library or on the platform as PDFs, but you can download others from Algerian or international universities.

3. This is just a training .Then, do not hesitate to express freely but scientifically.

Task:

Choose a Master dissertation either in "Linguistics" or "Lit. & Civ.   Read it, then:

According to what you did study in the previous semester S 5 in this module, do the task:

1. - How is the title built?
   - Does it reflect the study?
   - Is it coherent with it?
2. -Is the abstract long or short?
   - Does it include pertinent information about the study such as:
      research problem, research method(s), findings .etc..?
   - How is it constructed?
   - How many keywords are there? Are they well selected?
3. - Cite the components included in the introduction.
-What is the research problem of this study?
- How many research questions are there?
-Are they effective for the study process?
-To which extent are the hypotheses measurable if there are any?
-What type(s) of research method(s) are used for conducting the research?
-Are the tools and samples efficient and sufficient for this kind of research?
-When dealing with the literature review did the students analyse or just cite the works?
- How many chapters does the study consist of?
4. -What does the conclusion include?
-Give an example of the findings.
-Does it include any suggestions or recommendations?
- Is it ended with any open question for further studies?
5. -To which extent does the bibliography (and sitography) seem important for the study?
   -Are the references recent and various?
6. If you were the candidate what would you omit or add to the dissertation?
7. How was the analysis of the dissertation profitable to you?
8. Did it inspire you while reading and analysing it?
9. Did you gather any data from it?
10. Are you thinking of adding it to your literature review or references for your Master dissertation?
11. Did you enjoy your homework or just do it as an unavoidable duty or burden?

Best of Luck   ☺
